Beach Boys Bring Endless Summer To VSC ..... Page 18

Halloween, a time for ghosts and goblins to air out their dirty linens, brought ghoulish fun to the P.E. Complex as America's oldest teenagers, The Beach Boys, celebrated their 25th anniversary at Valdosta State.

For more than 125 years America's favorite jeans, the ones that shrink-to-fit, have riveted pockets, and a button-fly, are still the best. They are, of course, Levi's 501s.

With all the pomp and circumstance of any beauty pageant, Stanette Way was crowned the new Miss Valdosta State College during the 36th annual Miss VSC pageant, sponsored by Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity.

Made In The U.S.A.

In one stunning image recognized around the world, the Statue of Liberty says "America." Conceived by Frenchman Edouard René Lefeure de Laboulaye as a monument to American independence, the Lady has become a symbol of freedom and pride that citizens have taken into their hearts. French sculptor, Frédérick-August Bartholdi spent 15 years turning Laboulaye's idea into reality. In 1886, after teasing Americans with glimpses of her arm and torch, Bartholdi unveiled the Statue of Liberty.

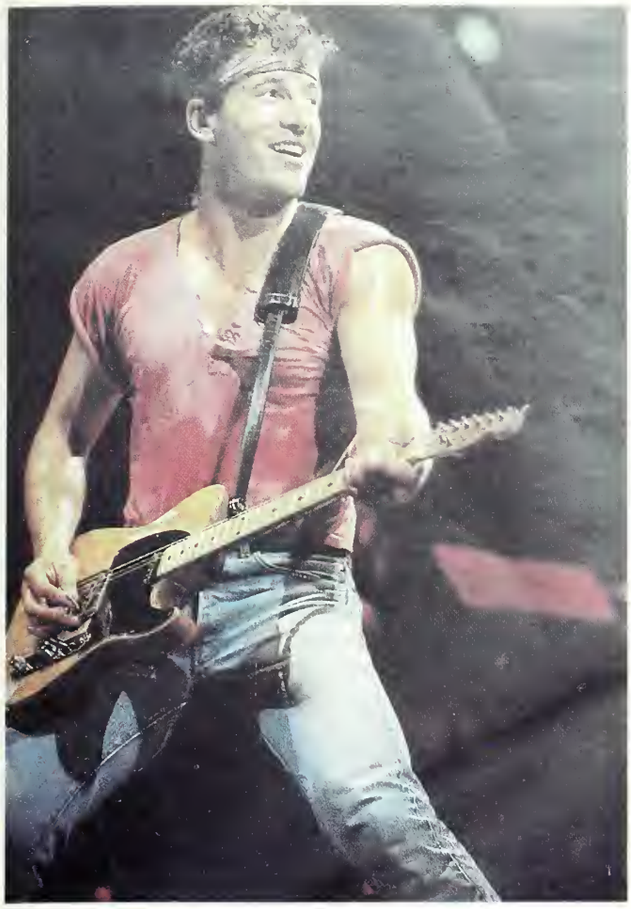
One-hundred years later, after having a 31-million dollar face-lift, the Lady was unveiled once more. In a time when America's pride was at it's highest, the celebration of Liberty's birthday and relighting of her torch provided the final great gasp for a nation whose stature was being challenged elsewhere. Americans had become targets for terrorists abroad. The destruction of the Challenger space shuttle and fiery deaths of her 7 crewmembers had grounded America's venture into space. Blue-collar workers watched helplessly as their livelihoods disappeared, and they faced changes that would leave them asking, "Where do I fit in?"

In 1984, rock megastar Bruce Springsteen became the blue-collar troubadour with the release of his album Born In The U.S.A. His carefully written songs have been compared to letters from home, as he articulates the hopes and fears of an entire generation and class of people. In the case of the title cut Born In The U.S.A., Springsteen creates an anthem about a guy who gets drafted, sent to Vietnam, then to prison and various other raw deals, but still he remains a "cool rockin' Daddy in the U.S.A."

In response to the blue-collar workers' question of "Where do I fit in?" Frank Beaver, professor of communications at the University of Michigan, states "We are moving into an uncertain zone; we just aren't quite sure where we are now. The patriotic symbols and the upbeat movies, they help us cope with the uncertainty."

Sylvester Stallone, in his Rocky movie series gives us a hero in Rocky Balboa. In a time when we need heros, Rocky lets us know that despite seemingly insurmountable odds, there is still hope for victory. It is possible for the underdog to come out on top. For over 200 years the underdog has been winning in this country. As our American Constitution celebrates its bicentennial anniversary this year we are reminded how a small group of underdogs rose up against an oppressive English rule to become one of the mightiest nations in the world.

So, with all of this in mind there is still the question of "Where do I fit in?" Ask yourself this question and then take a look at the people around you. What do you see? You see individuals from all walks of life. Some are rich, some are poor, but most live somewhere inbetween. In our American "melting pot" it is customary to shake hands when we meet people. Remember that the next time you meet someone for the first time. Remember, and be proud to be a "cool rockin' Daddy in the U.S.A."



BLUE JEANS

Classic Americana

Of the many types of jeans sold on today's market, only one deserves to be called a classic. These jeans are the oldest and the best-selling. They are the kind that shrink-to-fit, have a button fly and riveted pockets. They are, of course Levi's 501 Blues.

The Levi's legend begins in 1880, when a Bavarian immigrant named Levi Strauss created the world's first pair of jeans--almost by accident. If things had gone as planned, Levi's would be tents and not jeans.

Like thousands of people during his time, Levi Strauss made his way west to the California coast. But, unlike most of these settlers, Levi intended to make his fortune, not by panning for gold, but by selling dry goods to the miners.

Upon his arrival to the gold country Strauss was greeted with words that would shape history: "Should have brought pants. Pants don't wear worth a hoot up in the diggin's."

Strauss listened well, and took his rolls of brown tent canvas, from amongst his wares, to a tailor who made them into pants. Strauss called these pants by their lot number, 501. The 501's (or as his customers preferred to call them "Those pants of Levi's") were an instant hit with the miners because of their durability.

When Strauss ran out of canvas, he switched to a tough cotton fabric loomed in Nimes, France. This new material was one of the strongest known, and was called "serge de Nimes", which Americans soon shortened to "denim".

Back in the 1880's it was an innovative idea, making pants out of tent material. Levi Strauss rose to a challenge and carved a niche for himself in American culture. But even Strauss might be surprised to find that his newfangled idea is still alive and looking pretty much the same even after more than 125 years.

Evangelist Disrupts Campus

While Exercising Constitutional Rights

"Amazing Grace, How Sweet The Sound . . ."

"FORNICATION!!!"

The Constitutional rights which guarantee the Freedom of Speech and the Freedom of Religion came under fire during the week of February 9-13 as the controversial campus evangelist Jim Gilles brought his ministry to the VSC Campus. Gilles, who spoke on campus during the previous year, has preached on 210 campuses in 42 states. Gilles' sermons have provoked angered students to attack him on many of those campuses. In fact, he was struck by a riled student on the first day of his visit in February of 1986. Gilles, who was "saved" during a Van Halen concert a number of years ago, infuriates students by calling them "whores" "whoremongers" and "perverts".

Student reactions to Brother Jim were mixed. Some thought he was a professional comedian. Others assumed that he had been hired by the Campus Activities Board. Some students went as far as calling Gilles a false prophet spoken of in the Bible.

Shouts of disgust echoed from the crowd as Christians, whose faith and beliefs were being tested, asked such questions as "Who gives you the right to judge us?" "What gives you the right to condemn us all to Hell?"

Regardless of whether or not he was right or wrong, the U.S. Constitution allowed Gilles to say the things he did, and to get away with it. The Freedom of Speech as well as the Freedom of Religion, among other rights, are shared by every citizen in this country. In some countries outbursts such as Brother Jim's would not be tolerated. Individuals making such bold comments would be reprimanded by the government. It is refreshing to know that in America one can speak one's mind freely and openly with no fear of being jailed for having beliefs which differ from that of the government or another individual. It was also comforting to witness VSC students, and in some cases faculty members, exercising their rights as they challenged Brother Jim on various points of interest. What is even more fascinating is the knowledge that as our Constitution celebrates its 200th birthday, it is stronger today than it ever was.

Carl Parke is personally sentenced to Hell.

An International Affair

Each year exchange students from around the world come to spend time in America. For one year these students live with a family sponsor and attend school in the U.S.

The Society of International Students acts as a forum allowing exchange students and American students an opportunity to learn more about each other by sharing ideas, beliefs and customs.

One of the year's highlights is the annual S.I.S. International Dinner. Members of the Society prepare their favorite dishes from their native countries. A few of the students even dress in authentic costumes to make the evening more realistic.

STUDENT LIFE

The Exodus:

Time, once again, to hurry up and wait. Time, once again, to unpack, arrange, and then rearrange all the clothes, nick-knacks, stuffed animals, stereo systems and posters. Time, once again, to meet a new roommate or to greet an old friend. Of course your most trying and difficult task will be to sign up for classes. So instead of putting away your stuff, you hustle your buns over to your advisor's office, bubble in an opscan sheet and pray that you get the classes you need. Fate should only be so kind. VSC registration is computerized, which is supposed to make registration an easy task. However, computers do get sick and VSC's computers tend to get sick more often than most; especially on the first day of registration. During registration week, patience and persistence is the student's creed!

Homecoming Week - 1986

HOMECOMING 1986 found VSC students "KEEPING THE SUMMER ALIVE" as they eagerly wriggled into those summer shorts and bathing suits one last time for the HOMECOMING parade. Even in October, VSC students are glad to break out that beach umbrella and that trusty red beer cooler in pursuit of the American dream — the endless summer. Tanned girls dressed in hot pink and vivid turquoise "Jams" provided contrast to the bright red blazers worn by Dr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Bailey as they rode waving to parade spectators.

This year's parade included students from a variety of backgrounds — truly an American melting pot. Even immigrants from "south of the border" participated in VSC's quest for the summer that never ends.

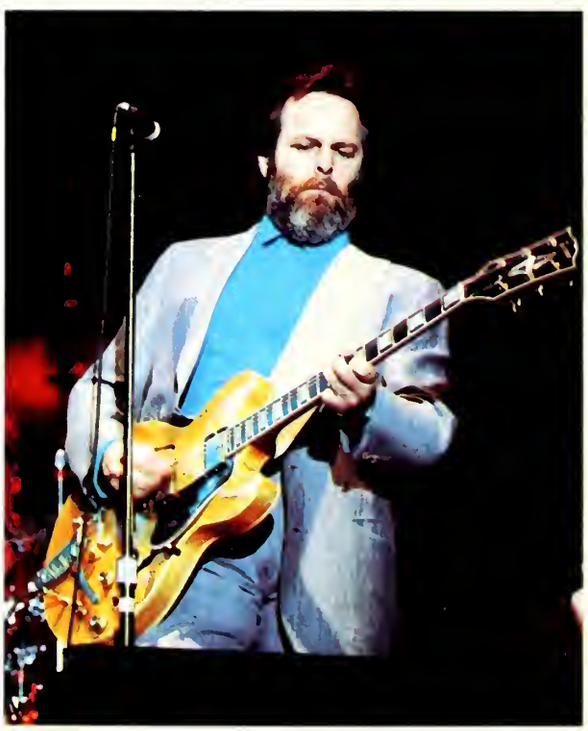
October 31, Halloween night, was a memorable occassion this year for most VSC students. Halloween, which fell on a Friday night, was made part of Homecoming Week as the Beach Boys stopped in town to celebrate their 25th year in the music industry (For more on the Beach Boys turn to pages 18 and 19). After the concert students dressed in their wildest costumes and ushered in All Hallows Eve.

THE Beach Boys

Sunkist

25th Anniversary Tour



"Keeping the Summer Alive" was made possible with the Beach Boys on campus to help celebrate HOMECOMING 1986. The spirit of an endless summer kindled a flame in a grinning jack-o-lantern and filled the P.E. Complex as this American musical tradition of sand, surf, rock and roll chanted with the students to have "Fun, Fun, Fun." The crowd delighted in hearing these California beach bums croon American oldies but goodies such as "California Girls," "Help Me Rhonda," and "Surfin' U.S.A."

Ricky Skaggs

On the night of January 30, 1987 an audience of about 3,000 filed into P.E. Complex to hear Ricky Skaggs in concert. Skaggs, the Country Music Association's Entertainer of the Year, is also the youngest man to have been inducted into the Grand Ol' Opry.

Skaggs, an artist of the Epic label, performed many of his hits such as "Heartbroke," "You've Got A Lover," and "I Wonder If I Care as Much As I Did Before."

At times, he would invite the crowd to sing along with him on the chorus. And to show his versatility with instruments Skaggs performed a "fiddle" solo of "The Forked Dear."

The concert, the second of a record breaking series of four, was sponsored by the Campus Activities Board.

Ready for the World

Ready For The World, a popular rythm and blues band, performed in the P.E. Complex before an audience of approximately 3,000 people on the night of February 26, 1987. This concert, like the two before it, was sponsored by the Campus Activities Board.

The concert was arranged just a week before the band arrived. Nevertheless, an unexpectedly high turnout generated ticket sales of over $22,000 dollars.

Spectators thrilled to dazzling light displays as the concert got underway. The Ready For The World Concert featured more special effects than did the Beach Boys or Ricky Skaggs Concert.

After opening with "It's Been A Long Time Coming," the group performed such favorites as "Oh, Sheila," and "Mary Goes Around." Also featured was the group's number one hit "Let Me Lay You Down."

KOOL & the GANG

The Valdosta State College P.E. Complex was the sight of the premiere of Kool and The Gang's 1987 "Victory" tour. The band, after cancelling an earlier date at Valdosta State, approached the school a second time with definite interest in launching the group's tour in Valdosta.

On the night of April 14, 1987 thousands of screaming fans delighted in seeing Kool and the Gang perform. This popular Top 40 band is noted for its tender ballads, and performed such hits as "Cherish," and "Special Way." Also, the band gave the enthusiastic audience a taste of such high-energy beats as "Emergency," "Mislead," and "Stone Love."

Student Volunteers Help Make Concerts A Reality

Some people think that putting on a major concert is a simple task. All you have to do is stand in line, purchase your ticket, find your seat and enjoy tha band. Life should only be so kind. Despite the myth, there is a lot of hard work that goes on behind the scenes of a concert.

Besides all of the negotiations, paper work, advertising, and telephone calls, a tremendous amount of physical labor is involved with producing a successful show. Tractor-trailers begin rolling into town during the wee hours of the morning. Workers, mostly VSC students whose only pay might be a free tee-shirt, a ticket to the concert, and maybe an up-close glance at one of the stars, begin the laborious task of unloading the equipment, and getting the stage ready for the band.

Tons of spotlights and miles of electrical cable later—the stage and sound-system are ready, just in time for the show to begin. For this hard work and tireless dedication, the Milestones staff salutes the volunteers who have made the Beach Boys, Ricky Skaggs, Ready For The World, and Kool and The Gang concerts a reality.

Stanette Way, a 20-year old Accounting major, was crowned the 1987 Miss Valdosta State during the 35th annual Miss Valdosta State College Pageant. The Pageant, which is a franchised preliminary to the Miss Georgia and Miss America pageants, is sponsored annually by the Beta Tau chapter of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity.

Stanette Way competed with eleven other women on the evening of January 28, 1987 for the coveted title. Way, who was last year's second runner-up, also won the swimsuit competition.

The pageant's second runner-up was Jennifer Purvis, a criminal justice major from Valdosta.

First runner-up was Glynis Attaway, a senior speech and communications major from Brunswick.

Negotiations Approved For Purchase of Brookwood Plaza

It looks as if VSC's Campus is growing. Final negotiations have been approved by the Board of Regents for VSC to lease Brookwood Plaza, with the option to purchase the 128,000 square foot facility.

This additional space will be used to accommodate many crowded departments on campus. It is planned that the library will be expanded by moving the Media Services and the South Georgia Archives to the plaza. This will provide more room for shelving new books for library expansion.

Brookwood Plaza also holds potential for more lab space. It is expected that the number of labs for the engineering program will triple, or even quadruple in the coming years.

Also, the College Union will be expanded in order to allow for more access to college groups. The expanded Union will also provide greater access and parking to off-campus students.

The Astonishing Neal Astonishes Crowd!

On the night of January 14, 1987, a crowd of approximately 250 VSC students were "astonished" by the mental powers of The Astonishing Neal. The show, which was sponsored by the Campus Activities Board, lasted for over three hours. The first 90 minutes of the act included feats of mental telepathy and telekinesis. Neal displayed his ability to project thoughts by asking the audience to concentrate on a number between zero and fifty. An astonishing number of people concentrated on the same number, 37. Neal then picked people, at random, from the audience and told personal, embarrassing events from their past.

At one point Neal asked three volunteers to hold a hand full of nails at arms distance. He instructed them to concentrate on bending the nails with their minds. He also encouraged the rest of the audience to project thoughts of the nails bending. One of the volunteers, when asked to observe her nails, dropped the bunch of nails she had been holding, and ran screaming from the auditorium. The nails she had been holding had apparently bent in her hands. Neal then asked those in attendance to check their pockets for keys of any other personal items which may have bent during the session. An amazing number of students approached the stage to present bent keys, metal combs, and knives.

The second half of Neal's show centered on the performers hypnotic abilities. Neal placed a group of 50 volunteers under a hypnotic trance. After causing the volunteers to go through various activities such as holding imaginary books and balloons, Neal suggested that each participant had a pet on stage with them. At Neal's command the group began to pet imaginary animals ranging from a hamster to a rhinocerous. One participant even petted her giant Pound Puppy.

Cavan Leads Blazers To First Winning Season

Valdosta State Football turned the corner toward success in 1986 as the five-year-old program, under the direction of an almost entirely new coaching staff, bullied its way to a 9-2 record and a place among the elite of Division II football.

Head Coach Mike Cavan, who assumed control of a program which had turned three consecutive 5-6 campaigns, brought in an enthusiastic and knowledgeable staff which turned a solid group of players in the right direction.

The Blazers started quickly with a surprising 17-0 shutout over Fort Valley State, dropped a heartbreaking 10-7 decision to Central Florida, then rolled up impressive Gulf South Conference wins over Jacksonville State and UT-Martin. Only a 45-10 setback blemished the remainder of the schedule as the Blazers defeated their final six opponents to finish 9-2 overall and 7-2 in the GSC.

The fairy tale season had a troubled ending, however, when the NCAA selection committee bypassed the Blazers for one of the eight spots in the national playoffs. Nonetheless, in final rankings Valdosta State was voted 8th in the nation by the Football News and 12th in the nation by the NCAA poll.

Individually, linebacker extraordinaire Jessie Tuggle was named the league's defensive player of the year, and sensational flanker Randy Fisher was selected freshman of the year. Other Blazers named to the all-conference team were Dallis Smith, Terry Mallory, James Gibson, R. D. Swain, and Keith Reddings.

Tuggle, who completed a brilliant four-year career, was further honored by being named to two all-American teams, Kodak and the Football News.

Coach James Dominey's Blazers, while compiling a successfull won-loss record of 16-10, were denied a trip to the four-team Gulf South Conference tournament, being eliminated from the fourth spot by the league's tie-breaker system.

The 1986-87 Blazers were an exciting team which won 9 of 11 games in front of enthusiastic crowds in the Physical Education Complex. One of the home court losses was a double overtime decision to Delta State, a team which reached the Final Four. That was the loss which cost VSC a tournament berth.

Three seniors closed out their Blazer careers in outstanding fashion. Leon Jones, Marlon Jones, and Walt Webb were the three leading scorers. The Joneses were named to all-conference and all-state teams, and both wrote their names in the VSC record books.

Lady Blazers

The Lady Blazers of Coach Charles Cooper turned in another exciting season, winning 18 of 26 games and losing only to conference champion Delta State at home (in a 105-103 overtime thriller.)

VSC finished third in the regular season GSC race, and the season ended in the first round of the conference tournament when the Lady Blazers dropped a 77-72 decision at Livingston.

Individually it was a record-setting year for several players. Candace Fincher closed out her brilliant career setting 14 conference records. She made all-conference for the third year in a row and was named to the Kodak All-America team.

Bridgett Moore, the conference's female athlete of the year, ended her outstanding career with two conference records, and freshman Shannon Williams set a school record and conference record by scoring 50 points in a single game.

Three Lady Blazers, Fincher, Moore, and Machelle Petrey, were named to the League's all-academic team.

Phi Alpha Theta

Phi Alpha Theta is an international history society organized in 1921 to recognize and encourage excellence in the study of history. To be eligible for membership an undergraduate student needs a 3.0 overall average and a 3.1 average in history courses taken. A graduate student must have a 3.5 average across the board. The Society sponsors a state convention each year where students read their papers. Prizes are awarded for those papers which merit them. Scholarships and annual prizes for best manuscripts are also given. The local organization sponsors occasional trips to historic sites.

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu is a national social science honor society which honors students in any social science field who meet certain set requirements. The society brings speakers on campus for public lectures and is concerned mainly with the betterment of the social sciences. For more information contact the History Department.

Pictured to the right is Dr. Raymond Mensing, advisor, as he introduces the evening lecture and discussion on South Africa.

Omicron Delta Kappa

Omicron Delta Kappa is the National Leadership Honor Society for senior college students. The purpose is to recognize students who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities and to inspire others to strive for attainments along similar lines. The five indispensable qualifications for membership are: exemplary character, responsible leadership and discriminatory service in campus life, superior scholarship, genuine fellowship, and consecration to democratic ideals.

The Campus Activities Board is concerned with the diversification in entertainment and recreation. The Board provides weekly movies, workshops, fashion shows and a wide variety of recreational opportunities. It brings in top-name performers such as the award winning comedian Andy Andrews, and singer Barbara Bailey Hutchinson. The Board is also responsible for promoting concert acts which appear on VSC's campus.

Each year Board members attend regional and national conferences which showcase acts touring the college circuit. By previewing these acts the C.A.B. is better able to provide quality entertainment for the campus. Membership is open to all VSC students. For more information call the Student Activities Office.

During the year, they will work with many students, alumni, college and civic officials. Information on the program is available from the Alumni Relations Office.

Spectator

The Spectator is the weekly campus newspaper of Valdosta State College. The purpose of The Spectator is to inform the student body of campus events, to provide a means by which students may express their views, and to teach staff members correct journalistic style and policies

Odradek

Odradek is the literary arts magazine for Valdosta State College. Students and faculty contribute poetry and short stories for publication quarterly. Also original works of art and photography are accepted for publication. For more information call the English Department at 333-5946.

WVVS-FM

WVVS-FM is a noncommercial radio station owned and operated by the students at VSC. It exists as an alternate media in Valdosta, playing progressive music and programming not available on commercial frequencies. Through weekly programs, WVVS-FM covers the spectrum of music, including classical, jazz, religious, soul, folk, and country. WVVS-FM, located at 90.9 on the FM dial, provides entertainment and news of Valdosta State College happenings. Students working at WVVS-FM receive course credit and full training. The station encourages you to help out, and it invites listener comment. Listen in at 91FM, or visit WVVS upstairs in the College Union, or call 333-5661.

The National Panhellenic Conference sororities are: Alpha Delta Pi, Zeta Tau Alpha, Kappa Delta, Phi Mu and Chi Omega. These sororities hold their formal RUSH just prior to the beginning of Fall Quarter.

The National Panhellenic Council sororities are: Alpha Kappa Alpha, Delta Sigma Theta, and Zeta Phi Beta. These sororities hold their RUSH later in the year.

Pictured clockwise are: Chi Omega, Phi Mu, and the members of RHO, CHI. RHO CHI stands for RUSH COUNCILOR, and its members go undercover to assist "rushees" with any problems or questions they may have during the week of RUSH. RHO CHI members are not allowed to reveal which sorority they represent.

Interfraternity Council

The IFC is composed of the president and two elected representatives from each fraternity. The IFC is the governing body of the ten social fraternities on the campus. Its purposes include unifying the fraternities to solve common problems, promoting cooperation between the college and fraternities, and protecting the interest of the fraternities and their members. The IFC also serves the fraternities by promoting the annual Greek Week activities.

The following fraternities are on the VSC campus: Alpha Phi Alpha, Delta Chi, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha Psi, Phi Beta Sigma, Pi Kappa Phi, Omega Psi Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Theta Xi.

Mr. Bob Geiger, Editor
Milestones
Valdosta State College

Dear Mr. Geiger:

This is to inform you that because there were no applications submitted for editor of the Milestones for fiscal year 1987-88, the Student Activity Fee Budget Committee voted not to fund that budget.

You should monitor your present budget very closely to insure that you do not exceed the current years allocation. I look forward to seeing the Milestones this year.

Sincerely,

Kenneth U. Ferrell
Chairman

xc: Dr. Hugh C. Bailey, President
Members, Student Activity Fee Budget Committee

Apathy Killed The Milestones

I read a sign once that said "I used to be apathetic. Now I just don't care!" How tragic, I thought. How could anyone be so insensitive? The more I thought about it, the more I came to realize that "I don't care" could easily be the motto for VSC.

For example, how many people, students and faculty members, support VSC's athletic teams? Admittedly attendance goes up during a winning season, but when it comes right down to dollars and cents, how many students get their money's worth out of paying quarterly athletics fees?

Similarly, what about support for the weekly activities sponsored by the Campus Activities Board? How many times has the C.A.B. held a recreational activity such as a Monopoly tournament, or volleyball match, only to have no one turn up to participate? During 1987 the C.A.B. sponsored no less than four "Happy Hours" in the Blazer Café. On each occasion only a handful of students attended. The shame of it all is that a lot of time and money (provided by Student Activities Fees) went into providing top-of-the-line entertainment for everyone's enjoyment. For the most part, the Tuesday night "Happy Hours" were wasted efforts. Very few people attended, and as a result the chances of bringing such talent back to our campus looks rather dim. In a time where budgets are being trimmed, departments are held more accountable for expenditures.

So too, it is apathy which has murdered the Milestones. I say murdered because the yearbook's demise was a deliberate, calculated measure. I know, because for two years as editor I witnessed all the signs of homicide. I observed apathy on behalf of the students at VSC as only 450 students, out of a total population that exceeds 6000, had their pictures taken for the 1986-1987 Milestones.

I also witnessed indifference on behalf of the administration when I pleaded to have the "yearbook seminar" organized into a class with a regular meeting time, and an instructor. I was told that as editor it was my responsibility to take care of any troubles facing the Milestones, and that any such reorganization, although it was supported, would be "a lot of trouble" because there was a lack of classroom space and instructors to teach such a course.

I could go on and on, but now that the end has come for the Milestones I would like to thank the small group of dedicated individuals who have made this final issue of the Milestones possible: Thanks go out to Joseph and Barbara Miller for all the wonderful sports photos. Also to Brian Duke and John Trotter for the photographic assistance. A very special thank you goes out to Dina Hale, who was the only section editor who did not let me down. When I needed something done I could always count on Dina not to miss a deadline. Thanks to Mr. Bill Baker of Walsworth publishing who gave me the motivation I needed when the yearbook started falling apart, and turned into a one-man-show.

As I close out this section let me encourage the students at VSC to push for the re-activation of the Milestones. The Milestones, as well as The Spectator, Odradek, and WVVS are funded by your Student Activities Fees. Let the people in charge of your money know how you want it to be spent. It is your right to do so. And if you agree that there should be no yearbook, then that is an opinion which I respect.

FINIS.
